

XIII BATTLE UNDER HEILSBERG

The City Hall of Lidzbark Warmiński, the Lidzbark Culture House and the Wileński Musketeers Regiment invite to participate in the reconstruction of the 13th Battle of Heilsberg.

The battle of Lidzbark Warmiński, known in history as the Battle of Heilsberg, an important event of the decisive spring campaign, was fought on June 10, 1807, and its last chords continued until the following day. It was an important element of Napoleon's war with the Fourth Coalition (1806 - 1807).

In terms of the number of troops present in it (Napoleonic and Russian-Prussian) and losses suffered by both sides, it was the greatest Napoleonic battle fought in the field in today's Poland.

We are currently organizing a reconstruction in the historical position of the Russian-Prussian army. Currently, a groundwork, dugouts and military buildings have been built here. In the place of reconstruction, a camp and a historical market are also created.
